

HUX is delighted to announce that a project we have worked on has been recognised in the prestigious UK Property Awards. Our Kingswood Road project has won an Interior Design Private Residence award for London, and will now compete against the best property professionals across the UK regions. The top winners in each region are then automatically entered in the International Property Awards, spanning 45 different residential and commercial categories. We designed and supplied the kitchen and all the bespoke joinery in collaboration with Zulufish, one of London's leading Design & Build companies. It was a fantastic collaboration, we are proud to have been involved and so pleased for Zulufish to have won this award. Hopefully they can go on to win the international category too!

The UK Property Awards are judged by an independent panel of over 80 industry experts and are the largest, most prestigious, and widely recognised programme throughout the regions. Judging focuses on design, quality, service, innovation, originality, and commitment to sustainability.
